Introduction

The beauty of Newport Beach is arguably its greatest asset, and its citizens share the belief that it can and should be reflected throughout all areas of civic life. To some, this means aspiring to the highest aesthetic ideals in all physical planning for the community through imaginative architecture, landscape and public works design. To others, it means defining the community through unique signature artistic experiences distinct from those offered in other cities or it means reinforcing the economic vitality of the City. To capture the dreams of those who call Newport Beach home and to recommend a number of ways the City can bring them to fruition, the City of Newport Beach contracted in May 2014 with Arts Orange County (Arts OC) to develop Phase I of a Master Arts and Culture Plan.

The successful implementation of such a plan would ideally achieve a number of broad goals:

• Highlight stories of this unique place
• Establish engaging public spaces
• Celebrate diversity
• Give all citizens access to the arts
• Attract and retain a creative class and an educated work force
• Attract world-class art and culture
• Promote an environmental ethic
• Nurture community and reinforce neighborhoods
• Fuel economic development

The objectives of the plan were to:

• Gather widespread input from the community about how they envision the role of arts and culture in the life of the City
• Document the City’s current cultural assets and venues and identify gaps that exist and how they might be filled
• Identify obstacles preventing greater community participation in the arts and suggest ways to overcome them
• Research the economic impact of the arts within the City and provide data on how it compares to other cities
• Explore opportunities for collaboration among organizations and businesses to maximize service to the community
• Identify ways the City can help advance its own artistic programs, those of local organizations and its overall arts ecology

This document contains Arts OC’s recommendations as a result of its 6-month process of research and evaluation. While no such report can be a comprehensive roadmap for future planning, this Master Arts and Culture Plan can serve as an important resource for the City to understand its needs and a valuable tool in its efforts to address them.
The mission of the Arts Commission is to promote and support a wide range of accessible cultural programs, activities and facilities to address the needs and interests of residents and visitors in the Newport Beach community.

Appointed by City Council, the City Arts Commission acts in an advisory capacity to the City Council in all matters pertaining to artistic, aesthetic and cultural aspects of the City. The City Arts Commission also recommends to the City Council the adoption of such ordinances, rules and regulations as it may deem necessary for the administration and preservation of fine arts, performing arts, historical, aesthetic and cultural aspects of the community. On behalf of the City, the Arts Commission actively encourages programs for the cultural enrichment of the community and performs such other duties relating to the arts as the City Council may require.

At a time when cities are competing to enhance quality of life opportunities for their residents, generate longer visitor stays through cultural tourism attractions, and to respond to the business community’s need for a creative workforce, the City of Newport Beach has embarked on the creation of a new set of recommendations for its arts and culture policy.

Newport Beach has reinforced the City’s legacy of cultural engagement and learning with the building of the Civic Center and Library, which now functions as an arts and cultural hub of the community. These architectural additions exemplify the city’s vision to establish a higher aesthetic for Newport’s built environment. These achievements, along with the commitment to design and implement a cultural plan, testify to the City’s desire to embrace fully the benefits offered by a robust arts and cultural landscape in Newport Beach.

This timely action parallels the cultural planning initiatives of other great cities where arts and culture are recognized as an integral facet of community pride, civic health, and economic vitality.

The 2014 Newport Beach Master Arts and Culture Plan represents the results of a six-month process designed to re-visit existing city policy for the arts, consider the current community assets, and envision a road-map of recommendations to guide next steps. This community process included stakeholders, focus groups, a public forum and a public survey to provide the framework by which Arts OC crafted these recommendations.

Executive Summary

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Grow public investment in arts and culture
   Sustain current sources of funding for the arts as well as increase the investment through a variety of funding mechanisms with the goal of matching or surpassing the national average for cities funding arts & culture.

2. Establish an appropriately-staffed Division of Arts and Culture
   Establish a separate division and a full-time position for arts and culture at the manager level - working in close cooperation with the Department of Library Services and the Department of Recreation & Senior Services - in order to effectively implement the Master Arts and Culture Plan, explore new initiatives and community partnerships, and engage all city departments.

3. Establish arts-friendly City policies
   Create a process and guidelines by which “arts friendly” policies can be established and non-profit arts and culture organizations can benefit.

4. Develop a 21st century arts and culture communication plan
   Build public awareness of arts and culture offerings and promote tourism by establishing an effective marketing and public relations plan.

5. Develop a multi-faceted approach to arts and culture programming
   Develop a program plan that includes expanded support for City-sponsored arts programs as well as support for and collaborations with Newport Beach-based organizations, venues and potential regional arts and culture partners. Plans should give special consideration to unique programming as well as signature events.

6. Refine the City’s Public Art Policy
   Establish public art policy according to national best practices that addresses all selection of art, suitable sites, sustainability and maintenance.

7. Develop new accessible creative spaces
   Create a facility plan that would address the community’s need for a 350 seat flexible venue, creative meeting spaces, classrooms, artist studios and a creative teen center. This plan should take into account the renovation of the Balboa Theatre as well as other existing sites and new construction.

8. Animate existing City parks, beaches, and other public spaces with unique programming, signature events and neighborhood festivals
   Collaborate across City departments to include and support potential unique programming in city parks and beaches and evaluate infrastructure needs.

9. Establish key partnerships that support arts education
   Collaborate and partner with public and private schools to support and provide relevant programs for youth.

10. Include aesthetic considerations in City processes which review and approve public and private development of the built environment
    Provide for appropriate input by arts and design experts in the community at the earliest possible conceptual phases of public facilities and infrastructure planning.
A Rich Legacy of Arts & Culture in Newport Beach

An appreciation for arts and culture has shaped the growth and development of Newport Beach from its origin as a beach town to its rise as a coastal city. Since its incorporation in 1906, the culture of Newport Beach, like most of Southern California, has been closely associated with the quest for an aspirational lifestyle. Alongside the natural beauty of the ocean and harbor, residents filled their desire for rejuvenation, leisure and inspiration with a pursuit of aesthetics and knowledge.

At the turn of the century they engaged in creative activities where there were opportunities to embrace lifelong learning in all arts disciplines. In a similar manner, the city formally established a precedent for educational and cultural values, as libraries were built throughout the village-based neighborhoods. Highlights of the city’s long-standing support for the arts include the founding of the Orange County Museum of Art in 1962 (previously the Newport Harbor Museum of Art) and the beginnings of South Coast Repertory on Newport Blvd. in 1964.

Newport Beach has been home to many artists such as renowned painter Rex Brandt, animator Chuck Jones, fashion icon Don Ed Hardy, writers Dean Koontz and Joseph Wambaugh, architect William Pereira, violinist Jascha Heifetz, “The King of Surf Guitar” Dick Dale, actors June Allyson, Joey Bishop, Ray Milland, John Wayne, Buddy Ebsen, Kelly McGillis and the legendary Helena Modjeska. As Newport Beach has grown to be a burgeoning and sophisticated city, the role of arts and culture has become even more prominent. In 1972, the city’s arts and cultural infrastructure was formally established with the birth of the Newport Beach Arts Committee. The group transitioned into the Newport Beach Arts Commission in 1974.

In 1997, the city council studied the creation of an Arts and Cultural Plan as well as an arts foundation. Although no plan was completed at this time, the City Council formalized the Newport Beach Arts Foundation, an organization designed to fund public art, arts and cultural organizations, and art related events in the city.

* Timeline not to scale   Not a complete list
In 2002, members of the Newport Beach Arts Commission engaged in strategic planning sessions to chart the commission’s goals and to develop a public arts policy, and an Arts and Cultural chapter was incorporated into the city’s General Plan. (See Appendix A) This chapter was written to “provide improved and expanded arts and cultural facilities and programs to the community.”

The arts and cultural elements chapter of the city’s general plan outlines 3 goals and policies:

1. Active and vital arts, cultural, and literary activities and programs that enrich the community.

2. Adequate physical facilities and venues that support cultural art and literary programs.

3. Establish a broad range of public and private funding sources to support cultural arts goals and activities.

Incorporating an arts and cultural element into the city’s General Plan was a major milestone for the city in recognizing the role and value of the arts and culture within the built environment and community’s interests. In 1981 the Reserve Fund for Culture and Arts was formed, giving $55,000 annually to “specific cultural or artistic planning, promotion and/or construction projects.” During 2003-2006, the city created a policy outlining regulations for a funding stream for the arts.

Development fees were also established to help fund the construction of arts and cultural facilities. These fees have helped create the Oasis Senior Community Center as well as the Civic Center and Central Library. These venues have become cherished and well-used resources for arts and cultural programming in Newport Beach.

With a solid foundation of local community arts and culture assets and an established Arts Commission, The Newport Beach Master Arts and Culture Plan is the next step in laying the groundwork for arts and culture infrastructure. The plan also demonstrates the city’s commitment to establishing specific action items for expanding arts and culture in the city. Most importantly, the plan provides a pathway for new opportunities so that current and future generations who live in, work in and visit Newport Beach can embrace the enhanced quality of life offered by arts and culture programs and events.
The current General Plan cites the importance of arts and culture for Newport Beach and the expectation that continued vibrant and meaningful programs will require “coordination, preservation, and promotion” in order to avoid unintended losses of cultural assets. The creation of a new master plan is important and appropriate in light of City-sponsored programming at the Civic Center, the Libraries, OASIS, and Newport Coast Community Center, plus the planned community centers at Newport Ridge and Marina Park and the potential City development of other assets such as the historic Balboa Theatre.

The plan is also important to the City’s expressed desire to continue nurturing the other cultural assets within its borders, such as these non-profit arts organizations which call Newport Beach home: the Newport Beach Film Festival, the Newport Beach Jazz Festival, the Southern California Children’s Chorus, Coastline College Art Gallery, Baroque Music Festival of Corona del Mar, and the Hutchins Consort. The plan seeks to benefit also creative businesses such as Grace Lane Gallery, Brett Rubbico Gallery and Susan Spiritus Gallery, as well as the top five architectural and advertising firms in Orange County (as ranked by the Orange County Business Journal).

Why Now for Newport Beach?

Right outside the geographic boundaries of the City exists the cultural campus at Segerstrom Center for the Arts in Costa Mesa that is home to world-class performing arts organizations and is soon to be home to the Orange County Museum of Art. Also nearby are the University of California, Irvine, with its theatres and galleries, the Irvine Barclay Theatre, a major professional performing arts venue, and the City of Laguna Beach, a historic and lively arts colony with major arts institutions.

Although important cultural assets exist in Newport Beach, the arts scene is still viewed by citizens and professionals alike as not having achieved the same level of development as neighboring communities. The opportunity to create a new Master Arts and Culture Plan can now stand on the shoulders of the excellent work completed in the past and the timing is ripe to implement a specific action plan that has measurable outcomes.

I am excited to see my city step it up a notch and focus on a strategy for arts and cultural planning!

- Business Focus Group Participant

Sculpture Exhibition in Civic Center Park
To evaluate the arts, culture, and community resources within the City of Newport Beach, Arts Orange County (Arts OC) engaged in an inventory and assessment process known as cultural asset mapping. Using this industry best practices approach, Arts OC embraced a broad definition of culture and conducted 25 one-on-one interviews with local leaders from various sectors spanning the arts and culture field, business, and City officials. Six focus groups were conducted which included stakeholders representing the fields of Arts Education, Artists, Arts & Cultural Organizations, Potential Arts Partners, City Affiliates, Teens from the Mayor’s Youth Council, and the Business Community. On-site visits were made to many locations including six of the largest community parks, Newport Theatre Arts Center, Sherman Library and Gardens, Coastline College Art Gallery, ExplorOcean, Balboa Theatre, Orange County Museum of Art, and the Cannery Village, as well as programs of these and other organizations such as Baroque Music Festival of Corona del Mar, Newport Beach Film Festival, and the City of Newport Beach Art Exhibition.

Research Methodology

A community forum was held to gain an in-depth perspective on the wider community’s opinions on several emerging themes derived from previous stakeholders and focus groups input. The last step in the process was to distribute a public survey to gather additional information from the community at large. Arts OC utilized a number of databases to reach approximately 39,000 citizens via multiple e-mails, as well as distributing information through every Homeowners Association and a variety of arts and community organizations, in order to make them aware of the opportunity to attend the public forum and to participate in the online public survey.

Of further value to the process was Arts OC’s existing knowledge of the community and familiarity with its cultural assets. The recommendations in this report reflect the opinions of the community members who participated in the above process as well as the expertise that Arts OC possesses and has applied from national best practice. (See Appendix B for participants and data results.)

The Process

- 25 one-on-one interviews with key stakeholders
- 6 focus groups comprised of 75 leaders from the arts, business, education, and city affiliates
- On-site visits to organizations & venues throughout the City
- A community forum with 55 attendees
- An online survey for more public input

Economic Impact of the Arts in Newport Beach

It has been well-documented that the arts contribute not only to the quality of life of a community, but to its economic health as well. A variety of respected entities regularly measure the economic impact of the arts—locally, regionally and nationally—and the data about Newport Beach underscore the economic value of having a healthy arts sector.

The 2013 Otis Report on the Creative Economy of the Los Angeles Region, prepared by the Los Angeles Economic Development Corporation, defines the creative economy as including the following:

- Businesses and individuals involved in producing cultural, artistic, and design goods and services
- Creative professions and enterprises that take powerful, original ideas and transform them into practical and often beautiful goods
- Organizations that provide a venue for artists to share their work with the public such as museums, art galleries & theaters
- Apparel, toy, and furniture manufacturing industries

The Otis Report is based upon 2012 data for the region from a variety of sources, and it breaks out Orange County data.

Orange County

$15 Billion
annual economic impact of creative sector

90,000 employees
$683 Million tax revenue

Newport Beach

$57 Million
annual economic impact of largest non-profit arts organizations

847 arts-related businesses
2,793 employees

[Source: Federal Form 990]

[Source: Dun & Bradstreet, Americans for the Arts]

It is critical to remember that musicians, dancers, painters, actors and arts administrators pay taxes, rent, and doctor’s bills like any other workers. The arts are not a special interest; they are an essential component of the economy and an especially crucial one as our nation’s future depends increasingly on its creative economy.

- Measuring the Whole Community Impact of the Arts, Robert Lynch, President, Americans for the Arts

A separate report on the creative economy of Newport Beach states that, within its City limits, there are: 847 arts-related businesses, employing 2,793 people, as of January 2014. This report is based upon information filed by businesses and nonprofits registered with Dun & Bradstreet (D&B) and provided to us by Americans for the Arts (AFTA). According to AFTA, “Because not all businesses register, our analyses indicate an under-representation of nonprofit arts organizations and individual artists in the data.” (See Appendix C)

Additionally, a review of the federal tax returns of Newport Beach’s largest nonprofit arts and cultural organizations shows that they generate an economic impact of more than $57 million in the form of direct expenditures, indirect expenditures and audience expenditures. The total amount is based upon their Form 990 reportable income and industry-standard multipliers utilized by Chapman University’s A. Gary Anderson Center for Economic Research in prior years’ Economic Impact of the Nonprofit Arts in Orange County reports. Organizations included in this calculation are shown in Appendix C.
How Much do Cities Spend on the Arts?

In 2013, the 60 largest U.S. cities spent an average of $7.58, according to Americans for the Arts’ annual study of Local Government Support for Local Arts Agencies. While each arts agency differs in type (government department vs. independent nonprofit) and mission (programmatic, regranting, and public art), it is clear that cities around the country believe in the value of investing public funds to advance the artistic life of their communities and to support the role they play in the local economy.

How do Cities Fund the Arts?

Generating revenue from visitors—whether through Transient Occupancy Tax, special fees or a Business Improvement District—is one of the most common methods that municipalities employ to fund their arts and culture facilities, institutions and programs.

Revenue from developer fees is used most often to pay for the commissioning and installation of public art in cities around the U.S. The latter is often referred to as a “percent for art” law, though the assessment varies by community, often ranging from a fraction to 3% of the cost of new construction within a city.

Some assess only public buildings and some allow developers to pay into an “in lieu” fund for public art (instead of having to commission their own public art and shepherd it through the City’s approval process).

Many cities opt to use multiple mechanisms to fund the arts in their communities. A good example is City of San Jose, which provides funding for cultural facilities through its General Fund, uses Transient Occupancy Tax revenues to award general operating grants to arts organizations and fund its own Office of Cultural Affairs, and uses a fee of 1% of construction costs on City building projects to fund public art commissioning and installation.

In 2013, the City Council approved Council Policy I-13, “Public Arts and Cultural Facilities Fund,” which sets aside 2 percent of the “unallocated public benefit fees” from development agreements negotiated after the approval of this policy “for the acquisition and maintenance of permanent art structures and installations in public places throughout the City including support of capital construction programs and cultural facilities.”

How does Newport Beach Fund the Arts?

The City of Newport Beach is no different in its desire to support the arts. Its 2014 Cultural & Arts Budget is $245,045, which amounts to $2.81 per capita, based on a 2013 estimated population of 87,293. If the City were to fund the arts at the average spending level of the largest U.S. cities mentioned above, that expenditure would increase to $661,681.

Historically, the City of Newport Beach has funded the following from its General Fund: administrative costs of the City’s Arts Commission, City-sponsored arts programming under the direction of its Arts Commission, and a small pool of re-granting monies for local arts organizations and arts programs operated within the City by non-Newport Beach based organizations. The Newport Beach Arts Foundation, established in 1997, was designed to leverage private funding and grants in support of arts and culture. After an initial strong start, the foundation has struggled to grow into a mature foundation with appropriate assets to fulfill its mission and meet the needs of the community.

In anticipation of future funds that will be generated and deposited into the fund, the City budgeted $100,000 in 2014 for the creation of a Master Arts and Culture Plan. The City has also discussed utilizing the Public Arts and Cultural Facilities Fund for renovation of the Balboa Theatre, now that it has reclaimed control of the property.

Additionally, discussions took place in January, 2014 regarding the possibility of allocating $150,000 from the City’s Tourism Business Improvement District for unspecified purposes related to the arts, although no decision has yet taken place.

Current City Arts & Culture Funding Mechanisms

- General Fund
- Newport Beach Arts Foundation (an independent non-profit)
- 2% unallocated public benefit fees (new in 2013)
- Tourism & Business Improvement District (under consideration)
Stop Loss: Protecting Newport Beach’s Arts & Cultural Assets for Quality of Life AND Economy

Plans by the Orange County Museum of Art, the City’s largest arts organization, to move out of Newport Beach to a site at the Segerstrom Center for the Arts in Costa Mesa that has been donated to them, is seen as a preventable loss of a major cultural asset by many residents and businesses in the City of Newport Beach. “How can we have allowed this to happen?” is not an infrequent question heard from residents during the Master Arts and Culture Plan process.

While most understand that the Museum’s plans are firm, and are simply determined not to allow a similar circumstance to arise again, a few hope the Museum can be dissuaded (or even prevented) from making the move. Others are hopeful that at least one of the two current Museum-owned lots might still be preserved for use as an arts venue, perhaps even with the Museum’s programmatic involvement. In the last decade, ten galleries and arts organizations in Newport Beach have closed and five have moved to other cities.

Twenty years ago, the nearby City of Laguna Beach found itself in a similar situation: in prior years, twelve of its arts and culture organizations had either dissolved, moved out of the City or been absorbed into organizations outside the City through mergers and acquisitions.

Alarmed at the loss of what were regarded as precious community assets, City leaders initiated a process which culminated in the production of Laguna Beach’s first Community Cultural Plan in 1996. Largely as a result of that plan’s recommendations, the City stepped up its investment in its arts infrastructure, eventually approving the creation of a Business Improvement District comprised of the City’s lodging establishments to provide a funding stream to meet the current and future needs of the City’s arts ecology. Not including the Art in Lieu Fund (the City’s public art developer fee), the City of Laguna Beach is spending more than $1,027,000 on the arts in 2014-15, for a per capita funding rate of $44.17, with 86% derived from the BID and 14% from the City’s General Fund.

Whether you live, work or play here, you know that Newport Beach is a great place. The arts will enhance what we already have.

Arts and Culture Community Assets

The cultural inventory, a list of Newport Beach’s community assets, covers a broad range of the City’s organizations, institutions, groups, venues, parks, and businesses, which comprise its cultural ecology. This asset map highlights the City’s current resources and brings attention to potential partnerships through which Newport Beach can expand and strengthen its community’s arts and cultural offerings. Findings from the key interviews, focus groups and survey were used to help verify primary organizations as well as gain feedback on how the community views many of these assets.

The cultural asset map, in conjunction with data collected in the community input process, also assisted in identifying potential sites for continuing or expanded arts and cultural offerings. Respondents consistently referenced the City’s three theatres, The Balboa Theatre, Newport Theatre Arts Center, and the Lido, along with the Civic Center as key cultural assets of the City. Many spoke of their desire for greater utilization or renovation of these sites. Respondents also expressed an interest in having a festival or signature event in Newport Beach. The Dunes, Newport Ridge Park and Bonita Creek Park were cited as potential venues due to their locations, parking availability, amenities and capacity to host large groups of people without creating a negative impact on neighbors.

Although residents highly value the asset of the Library and the Civic Center, many voiced a desire to see neighborhood parks also animated through arts offerings. Lastly, respondents expressed their disappointment with the proposed move of Orange County Museum of Art and voiced their desire to have this location remain as a center for arts and cultural events and programming. This move by the museum should elevate the importance of developing and promoting community programs and partnerships with many potential arts partners.

It is clear from the input that was received throughout this process that the citizens of Newport Beach take enormous pride in their community - from its scenic beauty and the joys of coastal living to the gorgeous weather and desirable amenities. Many cited how Newport Beach retains a small-town feel because of its village structure and how its picturesque and friendly harbor sets it apart from other Southern California coastal communities.

When asked about the challenges facing the City there were several common themes. First, there is a struggle to find the balance between growth and protecting the quality of life that makes Newport Beach such a great community. Changing demographics and the need to adapt are potential worries, but some people saw arts and culture as a means to overcome them and to unite neighborhoods.

Equally important was the perception frequently cited by residents that the City has not previously prioritized arts and culture in a substantive way and that now is an appropriate time to do so. A desire that was expressed consistently was to balance the development of more offices and residential units with spaces dedicated to arts and culture uses. In addition, residents applauded efforts to highlight what is unique to Newport Beach and move forward with an arts and culture agenda as a sign of cultural maturity as a City.

Each of the ten recommendations refers to the community’s input and cites current City policy as it applies to that topic. Each recommendation contains next steps which are intended to provide actionable strategies to move forward with that recommendation in the short term.

It has been well-documented that the arts contribute not only to the quality of life of a community but to its economic health. That is why cities across the nation believe in making an investment in their arts and culture infrastructure. In Newport Beach, the nonprofit arts and culture sector contributes over $50 million to the local economy and there are over 800 arts and culture related organizations and businesses employing almost 3,000 people within the City limits. Overall in Orange County, the creative sector contributes $15 billion to the economy, employs 1 out of 7 workers and generates nearly $700 million in tax revenue. (See Economic Impact of the Arts section for details and sources.)

The value of arts and culture to the residents of Newport Beach was strongly validated through the input received over the course of this study, as was the community’s firm belief in the importance of increasing its investment in the sector.

As cited in the Economic Impact section, in 2013, the 60 largest U.S. cities invested in their arts and culture at an average spending level of $7.58 per capita, while the City of Newport Beach currently invests in its own arts and culture at a modest level of $2.81 per capita or $245,045 from the general fund. If the City were to fund the arts at the average spending level, it would increase its General Fund investment to $661,681.

Recommendations

1. Grow public investment in arts and culture

   - CA 3.1 Public and Private Sources: Support the efforts of non-profit, private and community organizations to apply for public and private grants and promote donations to support arts and cultural activities (Imp 43.1, 43.2, 43.3)

   - CA 3.5 Funding: Provide funding for the arts in Newport Beach (Imp 43.3)

However, cities typically prefer to utilize a mixture of funding mechanisms to address different elements of the local arts and culture programs they seek to support, and Newport Beach has already begun moving in that direction. Thus, in addition to the General Fund, Newport Beach established in 2013 a Council Policy I-13, “Public Arts and Cultural Facilities Fund,” to direct a portion of developer fees to fund arts and culture infrastructure (capital) and a portion of the Tourism Business Improvement District fund is designated for possible use in funding arts and culture programs. It is critical to consider these funds as part of a complete budget for arts and culture and carefully designate their allocation to address programming, facility and administrative needs.

Private support can also contribute to the mix. For example, the Newport Beach Arts Foundation, a nonprofit 501(c)3 organization founded in 1997, plays an adjunct role to the City’s Arts Commission and primarily raises modest funds to support the annual Commission’s Art in the Park Exhibition program. Although it is a valued contributor to the arts in the community, the Foundation is not capable of providing the level of resources needed to sustain a robust arts and culture ecology in Newport Beach.

NEXT STEPS:

A) Prior to the 2015-16 fiscal year budget process, form a task force to review the City’s current arts funding formulas and policies and make recommendations for levels of funding suitable to meet current needs and future aspirations. This would include recommending the use of existing sources of funds from the City’s General Fund, Newport Beach Council Policy I-13, “Public Arts and Cultural Facilities Fund,” and the Tourism Business Improvement District as well as identifying additional potential sources.

B) Approve a multi-year commitment (3-5 years) to approve project budgets that exceed more than $100,000 annually such as the Sculpture Exhibition in Civic Center Park. Such a policy would allow for an efficient and effective planning process beyond the short timeline afforded by a single year allocation.

C) Establish a clear working relationship with the Newport Beach Arts Foundation that serves their organization as well as the goals of the Arts Commission in order to align efforts and expectations.

D) Solicit the involvement of prominent Newport Beach arts philanthropists to support the creation of a new venue.

2. Establish an appropriately-staffed Division of Arts and Culture

A seven-member City of Newport Beach Arts Commission has been in place since 1974. The commitment of the current commissioners reflects the highest motives for serving: a passion for the arts, the desire to be part of a creative team that is tasked with building a unique cultural future for the City, and excitement at the opportunity to integrate the arts with both the community and the beautiful environment. The commitment is especially meaningful to the commissioners given the recent building of a Civic Center and the new sculpture garden.

In the past, the City has had a full-time position of Arts Coordinator. Most recently, these responsibilities have been delegated to the Library Services Director. Based on feedback from the creative community, the level of collaboration required to leverage existing opportunities, as well as explore new initiatives and partnerships, will require an investment in experienced human resources best accomplished by establishing a full-time Arts Manager position. In particular, this position should work across departments to achieve the economy of scale offered by collaborating with Library Services, as well as Recreation & Senior Services to align and support quality programming and to provide inclusive arts experiences throughout the City’s parks and neighborhoods.

In order to take full advantage of opportunities that arise within the region and the state, a full-time arts staff member would prove invaluable. Many small and mid-sized cities in the region also see value in allocating some of their resources to the hiring of professional staff members with specialized experience in arts coordination. (Information from a representative sampling of these cities may be found in Appendix A.)

NEXT STEPS:

A) Review current job description (see appendix A) for position and salary level with goal of filling the position of Arts Manager with a highly qualified candidate by the start of the 2015-16 fiscal year.

B) Study and consider placing arts and culture within the City department that is most aligned.

C) Issue an RFP for an experienced outside consultant to work closely with the Arts Manager and Arts Commission on the implementation of the Master Arts and Culture Plan recommendations.

D) Establish the necessary budget resources to accomplish these steps.
Newport Beach is currently home to several well-respected arts organizations that could serve the citizens in a more impactful way if City policies were adjusted to accommodate their needs and took into account their status as non-profits. Such policies would also signal that Newport Beach welcomes new arts and cultural partners from outside City boundaries.

Among these policies are more favorable rental fees and streamlining of facility-use processes and, where appropriate, City co-sponsorship of certain activities in order to remove financial and logistical barriers that currently prevent a more robust schedule of arts programming in Newport Beach. In addition, policies should be put in place to create opportunities for local artists such as a local panel that chooses display of art in city buildings and outside spaces throughout the City. A task force could address policies that also include designating open space for cultural use, parking issues and shuttle transportation as well as standards for new architecture in the City.

NEXT STEPS: Form a task force to address policies of the City and make recommendations including:

- Specific guidelines by which an organization or individual qualifies for special policy designation
- Fee-reduction or waivers on use of facilities by artists and non-profits offering programs for the public, including establishment of a budget of in-kind resource allocations to accomplish this
- Exploration of policy that will specifically benefit potential live/work space for artists
- Process for designation of open space for cultural use
- Process to address parking and transportation issues for arts and culture events
- Process to include promotion of non-City sponsored arts activities and events in City-generated communications (as outlined in Recommendation 4)

Citizens feel the number one roadblock to engaging in more Newport Beach arts experiences is a lack of communication and information. The number of residents who are unaware of arts organizations that call Newport Beach home supports this outcome. To discover arts offerings, 69% relied on Email notices, 66% on word of mouth and 57% on online searches. Technology in all its current forms is critical to successfully promoting the programs of the City as well as its arts organizations.

In 2004-5, the Arts Commission produced and distributed a Newport Beach Cultural Arts Guide at the recommendation of a marketing and public relations sub-committee (See Appendix F). This guide featured all the organizations that called Newport Beach home and was valued by the hospitality industry as a tool in serving their guests. A similar guide might be considered for online and print publication.

4. Develop a 21st century arts and culture communication plan

NEXT STEPS: Form a sub-committee of the Arts Commission together with local marketing professionals (both arts and non-arts organizations), Visit Newport, and other City departments, to recommend the appropriate strategies to provide residents and tourists alike with easy access to arts and culture offerings.

Recommended strategies will include:

- Evaluating and making recommendations on a multi-layered communications and marketing approach that includes print publications, technology and signage.
- Evaluating and making recommendations on the coordination of marketing efforts with other City departments engaged in arts and culture offerings.
- Forming a strategic partnership with Visit Newport that includes Newport Beach TV and using an established web platform to receive a potential direct feed from Spark OC.
- Establishing a feedback mechanism at every arts event via an app for smartphones.
- Identifying and recommending key appropriate locations identified for way-finding signage and banners to the arts policy task force.

CA 1.3 Promotion of Cultural Arts: Build public awareness and encourage participation in the City’s arts and cultural activities (Imp 4421, 43.2)

CA 3.4 Cultural Tourism: Promote cultural tourism in Newport Beach to attract visitors and tourists interested in cultural events (Imp 43.1, 43.2, 43.3)

CA 3.2 Volunteer Opportunities: Promote and support volunteer opportunities for public involvement in arts and cultural programs and events (Imp 43.1, 43.2, 43.3)

5. Develop a multi-faceted arts and culture program plan

5.1 | Expand support for City-sponsored arts programs

The public is mostly familiar with and supportive of the programs being offered by City departments. Many speak of these programs in glowing, affectionate terms and wish to see them continued.

These include:
- Civic Center Concerts
- Art in the Park
- Sculpture Exhibition in Civic Center Park
- Library lectures and programs
- Shakespeare by the Sea
- Visual and performing arts classes for youth and seniors at community centers
- Juried Art Exhibition

5.2 | Develop unique programming and signature events

There are already key signature events happening in Newport Beach, which should be better supported. Newport Beach Film Festival was mentioned frequently as a signature event, as well as the Newport Hyatt Concert Series and Newport Beach Film Festival. The Newport Beach Boat Parade was also highlighted as an existing event which could be a springboard for an imaginative and unique-themed artistic endeavor, possibly in another area of the city. When Balboa Theatre’s transformation into an arts center is completed, there is additional potential for a signature event hub that includes ExplorOcean and Balboa Park & Pier. If a large signature event were to be held in a park, community members suggested rotating the location in order to maximize accessibility for all residents and minimize its impact upon any single neighborhood.

NEXT STEPS: Hold a facilitated Arts Commission retreat to carefully examine the range and type of programs being currently offered and set priorities for future program plans.

5.3 | Expand direct and indirect support for Newport Beach arts and culture organizations

Increase the amount of funding available to support existing programs. Currently, the arts commission has a small budget of $25,000 to give direct grant support to organizations that serve the community of Newport Beach. This support can be bolstered through favorable City policies such as fee-waived or fee-reduced use of facilities, marketing support, etc. as well as contracting for in-City performances by regional theatre groups, instrumental ensembles, dance groups, and choirs. Arts organization representatives expressed enthusiastic support for working together to grow arts and cultural offerings in Newport Beach. Among the ways suggested is collaborating on a community calendar that effectively features arts and culture in order to make the community aware of all the opportunities that take place throughout the year.

NEXT STEPS: Convene arts organizations and artists in Newport Beach annually to gain input on plans and priorities and establish collaborations.

5.4 | Engage other Newport Beach venues as potential arts and culture partners

There are a number of venues as well as arts organizations that should play a role in creating the cultural fabric of the City through purposeful strategic partnerships. For instance, the Newport Theatre Arts Center has previously hosted a children’s theatre company as well as the OC Playwrights Alliance. The new Coastline Art Gallery is showing promise as a willing partner with other organizations. Other potential partners are non-traditional venues such as churches, including St. Mark’s and St. James, retail areas, such as Fashion Island, visitor accommodations, like the Newport Beach Hyatt and The Dunes, cinemas, like the Big Newport and Island Theatres, conference venues, like The Port, and commercial entertainment venues, like the Lido Theatre. They should be invited to participate in meaningful, holistic planning for the development of the City’s arts and culture life.
Many residents travel just outside the city to take advantage of the offerings nearby. The City should pursue partnerships with some of the outstanding regional arts organizations in Orange County and Southern California to bring unique cultural experiences into Newport Beach. Such offerings might include “informances” (intimate lecture/demonstrations) by world-class artists already residing in or scheduled to visit the area, or the opportunity for these artists to break ground with new work or engage with audiences in outdoor environments.

5.5 | Build partnerships with regional arts and cultural organizations

NEXT STEPS: Establish an on-going steering committee with representatives from arts organizations and other potential partners to explore and implement partnerships that will strengthen existing programming and create innovative proposals for new creative ventures.

The City Council adopted Policy I-9 and I-11 in 1986 regarding Art in Public Places and the acceptance of donations of art to the City. These policies address the responsibilities of the Arts Commission in advising City Council on the selection of art pieces as well as placement at appropriate public sites. These policies are further expanded in Policy I-13, which created a Public Arts and Cultural Facilities Fund. Most recently the Arts Commission established an Art Site Suitability Ad Hoc Committee in 2014 to evaluate the City’s public locations for the placement of public art. That work was suspended in order to allow this Master Arts and Culture Plan to first be completed. However the process for moving forward is fully outlined and has been incorporated into the next steps (See Appendix A.2 and 3).

There is definite interest in bringing unique, interactive, public art experiences to Newport Beach to help distinguish it from neighboring cities. Interactivity of public art in surprising locations is especially appealing to residents.

CA 1.1 Public Projects: Encourage the incorporation of public art in major public projects that enhance the City’s community character as well as its built environment, through public art donations, and working with local artists, students and community groups to create public art projects. (Imp, 40.1, 43.3)

CA 1.2 Private Projects: Encourage the incorporation of public art into larger commercial projects that enhance the City’s community character as well as its built environment (Imp 2.1)

--Citations from Chapter 9, City of Newport Beach General Plan

6. Refine the City’s Public Art Policy

NEXT STEPS:

A) Resume the Art Site Suitability Process (Appendix G) addressing the following:
- Engagement of key stakeholders
- Establish suitability criteria
- Inventory potential locations with evaluation and ranking
- Identify process for site selection and design review

B) Review the existing Public Art Policy, considering national best practice, that addresses the following:
- An on-going sub-committee that includes industry professionals as ad-hoc members
- Establish a schedule by which budget is confirmed and projects are considered beyond the Sculpture Exhibition in Civic Center Park
- Sustainability of the Sculpture Exhibition in Civic Center Park
- Maintenance and conservation plan
- Deaccession of art work

7. Develop new accessible creative spaces

CA 2.1  Facilities – Explore opportunities to accommodate current or emerging cultural arts programs within existing and new facilities by working with community groups for sharing of performance and exhibit space and considering the potential for new facilities (Imp 9.1, 43.1, 43.2, 43.3)

CA 2.2  Shared Venues – Continue the use of shared exhibit space for the display of arts exhibitions such as the Central Library and City Hall (imp 9.1)

--citations from City of Newport Beach General Plan

7.1 | Build a bold new unique creative space

A strong desire was expressed repeatedly throughout the process that there be a bold and unique space created for the arts. A flexible 350-seat venue was the highest ranked possible use for a parcel of land at Orange County Museum of Art that will be vacated when it makes its future move to Segerstrom Center for the Arts in Costa Mesa. The City’s Central Library, with a venue contiguous with the Library itself, was also identified as a potential site.

Even if these particular locations cannot be used for this purpose, it was clear that there is a widely felt need for this specific size venue somewhere in the City. In addition, creative spaces that provide the arts community as well as businesses with affordable meeting spaces were ranked highly.

Such a space could serve as home to the Library Lecture series and other programs, as well as presentations by the Newport Beach Film Festival, Coastline Art Gallery, Baroque Music Festival, Hutchins Consort, and Southern California Children's Chorus. Music groups in particular would be strong partners and be compatible with Library programming and the Newport Beach Film Festival. It would also be appropriate to consider classrooms and artist studio space as part of such a plan.

NEXT STEPS:
A) Conduct a needs assessment of organizations that would make this venue their home.
B) Conduct a feasibility study of potential sites and how one or more sites might address this recommendation. Potential sites that have been suggested include but are not limited to: Banning Ranch next to Coastline Art Gallery, the original parking lot of Central Library, the smaller Orange County Museum of Art parcel, the City Utilities Yard at the end of 16th street, or Ardell Boat Yard.
C) Evaluate the potential for collaboration with Newport Theatre Arts Center with the intent of renovating the space and diversifying the arts experiences offered at the venue while protecting its rich history of community theatre.
D) Identify the appropriate City representatives to work with the Museum to explore the future use of its land.

7.2 | Retain Balboa Theatre site for arts and culture use

The City is at the start of planning the renovation and use of the historic Balboa Theatre, which has reverted to its control. There is a general concept in place that would involve offering classes and events that would serve the community as a multi-purpose cultural center. The importance of addressing this venue is validated by the fact that residents felt that Balboa was an area of the City that most needed and could be most positively affected by revitalization efforts through the arts. With ExplorOcean as an anchor, and a potential parking garage under discussion, this is a great opportunity to collaborate between the departments of Library Services, Recreation & Senior Services and the recommended new Arts division.

The public is aware of many issues, especially traffic and parking, which could prove a roadblock to programming that seeks to attract large numbers from outside Balboa. Residents expressed a desire to see the facility serve the community in a variety of ways, with the highest ranked programs being film and movie events closely followed by live performances and creative community events. (See Appendix I for results of Balboa Theatre potential audience survey.)

NEXT STEPS: Clarify the role of the Arts Commission as a strategic partner in the new plans for Balboa Fine Arts Center and collaborate with Recreation and Senior Services to contribute to the success of the project.

7.3 | Evaluate and establish location for a Creative Teen Center

Residents feel that young adults and teenagers deserve more attention and services through arts and culture. Teens expressed pleasant memories of attending classes when younger but were unfamiliar with anything the city is currently offering. Their general impression was that the city is lacking in arts and culture. Interestingly, they most cherished the older neighborhoods of Corona del Mar and Balboa because of their more eclectic, friendly and artistic community feel.

The desire for a creative teen center was defined as a “safe cool place” to hang out that stays open later than 9 p.m. Teens currently gravitate towards University Town Center (near UC Irvine) or alternative-style shopping districts like The Lab and The Camp in Costa Mesa. They are able to walk around, feel safe as if in their own “pod”, and the places feel intimate, cool, artistic and easy-going. The need was further expressed as a place to create, as well as experience art where food trucks were welcome or there was a café.

Examples of art components that can be incorporated into a newly developed teen center include: Open Mic Night for teen performances in various genres including music, spoken word and comedy; state of the art digital design studio; filmmaking, photography and creative writing workshops. A planned new City community center in West Newport has been identified as a potential venue that could incorporate plans to accommodate the needs of teens.

NEXT STEPS: Evaluate how to serve teens more effectively focusing specifically on:

• Establishing a new teen center(s) that could include an arts and creativity component at existing venues such as Newport Coast Community Center and St. Andrews Church
• Review existing programming for opportunities to include programming for youth or student rush tickets
• Consider the needs of teens and young adults with the addition of any new program or facility
• Involve representative teens in the planning process

Although residents expressed a great fondness for the Civic Center as an arts venue, they also did not want to lose sight of what could be experienced in their neighborhood parks.

When asked to rank potential programming, residents chose high quality live performances, followed by public art gardens, fitness trails, and community arts showcases. Additional suggestions included a traveling puppet theatre appearing in multiple parks, pop-up art and flash mob-style performances, “battle of the bands,” and a portable graffiti wall to engage youth. They were intrigued by interactive public art when shown visual images of actual installations, but did not rank it highly in the written survey which did not include visual images.

Arts organizations and schools are interested in exploring outdoor venues across the city, however the City’s parks are not currently equipped with adequate staging, sound, screen, projection and often lack sufficient parking capacity.

Suggestions to solve infrastructure issues included evaluating the purchase of a portable “showmobile” as well as assessing 1-2 parks for their ability to easily accommodate an outdoor built-in amphitheater. An investment in the infrastructure that could be used by arts organizations and schools would provide many more opportunities that benefit the community, especially youth.
The education community finds importance in exploring and establishing substantive win-win partnerships in the arts with the City. By working together, Coastline College, Newport-Mesa Unified School District, and private schools like Sage Hill, Harbor Day, Carden Hall, the Montessori Schools and other educational organizations can address access, cost and convenience of arts offerings. This can range from class offerings and hands-on arts engagement for all age groups as well as the prospective use of open time in their facilities. Even though some felt that the City is doing a great job with robust offerings for youth, many felt that these could be improved upon in terms of affordability and quality of the offerings. Residents highly rated the important role of the arts for engagement and skill building by youth. They also felt that the City had a role to play in encouraging arts education.

NEXT STEPS:

A) Appoint a City staff Liaison and an Arts Commissioner who will evaluate strategic opportunities and collaboration with private and public schools. Specifically this liaison will serve the Newport-Mesa Unified School District Arts Commission as they move forward with their strategic arts plan for public schools. (See Appendix II)

B) Create a plan for collaboration with Education K-16. Strategies can include:

- Hosting private and public schools showcases in Band, Chorus, Strings, Visual Arts and Dance at City venues
- Providing opportunities for teens and college students to serve as apprentices
- Special waivers for use of space when guidelines are met
- Identify opportunities for collaboration on joint events at City venues or school venues

Outstanding design and functionality are the hallmarks of great cities, and the City of Newport Beach has a fine example of that in its new Civic Center. Large or small, public facilities projects, public works projects and private development offer the City the opportunity to strive for world-class design. By allowing for appropriate input by arts and design experts in the community at the earliest possible conceptual phases of public facilities and infrastructure planning, the City can ensure that its highest aspirations for the built environment are achieved. These include everything from buildings to playground equipment, from way-finding and interpretive signage to bus shelters and park benches.

NEXT STEPS: Review existing City planning approval processes to identify and establish appropriate means to ensure input by arts and design experts at the earliest possible conceptual stages.
Resident arts professionals expressed a strong desire to stay involved in helping shape the arts and culture strategies within the recommendations that have been outlined on the previous pages.

Phase II of the Master Arts and Culture Plan would be as follows:

- Establish an entity and timeline to monitor and evaluate programming and protocol established through the Master Arts Plan. This will ensure that the vision is periodically updated to consider newly emerging art forms or shifting community needs/preferences.

- Convene specific task forces together with Arts Commission sub-committee(s) and key City staff in a retreat to identify strategies, priorities and timeline to implement the Recommendations

- Consider adding ad hoc members to a sub-committee of the Arts Commission in order to benefit from community expertise.

- Use mini-surveys at all city arts and culture events across all departments to gather additional feedback where appropriate.

ARTS AND
An Active and Vital Arts

Introduction

Arts and cultural activities play an important role in community life and have been a valued component of Newport Beach for over 125 years. Newport Beach has a wide range of art and cultural organizations, resources, attractions, and activities that are a source of community pride and enrichment. These achievements have evolved over time and have been the result of the dedication and involvement of numerous individuals, groups, and organizations. However, without intervention, coordination, preservation and promotion, art and cultural activities and resources can easily be lost through destruction, indifference, or through unintended land use decisions or policies.

The goals and policies of the Arts and Culture Chapter are intended to be a guide for meeting the future cultural needs of the community. Future challenges in Newport Beach require maximizing the community’s cultural arts potential by coordinating with various community groups, businesses, agencies, citizens and the City to create an active and cohesive cultural and arts programs. The Chapter is intended to serve as a mechanism for integrating these resources in order to provide improved and expanded arts and cultural facilities and programs to the community.
Cultural Arts Organizations and Programs

Newport Beach's nonprofit arts community includes a broad array of organizations, and a substantial number of arts programs and activities. There is a diverse range of artistic disciplines and a strong focus on programs for children and youth. Through its grant program, the City of Newport Beach distributes funds to arts organizations on a yearly basis, which enables them to expand their cultural programs offered in the community. Through its Department of Recreation and Senior Services, the City also provides year-round educational programs for adults and children in music, dance, arts and crafts, and drama.

Cultural Element and Cultural Community

Newport Beach's arts community also contains various private and nonprofit arts organizations and arts groups. These groups include the Newport Beach Film Festival, Newport Theatre Arts Center, Baroque Music Festival, Newport Beach Arts Foundation, and the Newport Beach Theatre Company.

City of Newport Beach Arts Commission

The City of Newport Beach Arts Commission acts in an advisory capacity to the City Council on all matters pertaining to artistic, aesthetic, and cultural aspects of the City. Established in 1972, as the Newport Beach Arts Committee and in 1974 in the City Charter as the Newport Beach City Arts Commission, the Commission recommends to the City Council ordinances, rules, and regulations as it may deem necessary for the administration and preservation of the arts, performing arts, and historical, aesthetic, and cultural aspects of the community.

The Arts Commission, working with staff in the Cultural Arts Office, provides free or low-cost programs for cultural enrichment including temporary art exhibits at City Hall and the Central Library, juried art exhibitions, permanent art collections for City facilities, summer concert in the park series, arts lectures for the public, cultural festivals, and performances, educational seminars and workshops.

The Arts Commission also participates in the designation of historical landmarks, and reviews design elements for public sculpture, fountains, murals, benches, and other fixtures.

Performing and Visual Arts Facilities

The primary performing arts facilities in Newport Beach are those that are associated with local cultural arts organizations and programs. They include the Newport Theatre Arts Center and the Orange County Museum of Art, which has an auditorium that seats 120 people. Local schools have auditoriums and other facilities that can be used as performing arts spaces, such as Loats Auditorium at Newport Harbor High School. In addition, the Balboa Performing Arts Theater Foundation has plans to rebuild the historic Balboa Theater in Balboa Village which will seat approximately 350 people.

Civic facilities in Newport Beach, such as the library and City Hall, have exhibition spaces that display the work of local artists. The Central Library visual arts gallery displays different exhibitions of local artists bi-monthly. The library also hosts a variety of programs for adults, including Sunday musicals, art exhibitions, author appearances, lecture series, book discussions, and Internet workshops.

Museums

In addition to the numerous galleries throughout the City, Newport Beach is also home to a variety of museums. Located in Newport Center, the Orange County Museum of Art features modern and contemporary art. The museum houses a permanent collection of paintings, sculpture, photography, and changing installations, all documenting California’s artistic heritage.

The Newport Harbor Nautical Museum focuses on industrial and recreational history and features local photographs, artifacts, and memorabilia. Sherman Library for California History, located in Corona del Mar, features detailed exhibits on the history of the Pacific southwest, as well as a public garden.

The Newport Sports Collection Museum, located in Newport Center offers several educational programs to motivate youth to stay in school and be active in athletics.

Events and Festivals

Various festivals and events occur throughout the year in Newport Beach. Some of these attractions include the Newport Beach Jazz Festival, Concerts in the Parks hosted by the City Arts Commission, Newport Beach Festival of the Arts, Shakespeare by the Sea, Balboa Island Art Walk, Southern California Plein Air...

FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR CULTURE AND ARTS

The City Council hereby recognizes the importance of promoting culture and the arts within the City of Newport Beach. A number of individuals and groups, such as the Arts Commission and Friends of the Newport Theatre Arts Center, have been organized with the express purpose of developing and promoting culture, theatre and the arts.

The City would compliment these efforts by establishing a Reserve Fund for Culture and Arts that can be used for a) developing a master plan for the promotion of culture and arts; b) acquiring land and/or the construction of facilities to promote culture and arts; and c) instituting other cultural promotion projects.

The sum of $55,000 shall be provided each year for specific cultural or artistic planning, promotion and/or construction projects as approved by the City Council. It is the policy of the City of Newport Beach that expenditures from the reserve fund should be matched equally by the community in the form of contributions and donations.

In regard to the City’s roll in financially sponsoring art and cultural events, the City Arts Commission shall review all programs and requests for support from arts groups. The Commission shall forward its recommendations for funding to the City Council for final approval. Any appropriation shall not exceed 50% of the Arts Commissions’ annual budget. For the purpose of this policy, arts groups shall be defined as those involved in visual, musical, theatre, dance, crafts, performing and literary activities.

The following priorities shall be considered by the Commission. The order of preference for granting support shall be as follows:

Groups not offering programs or services to local residents shall not be eligible for support from the City.

B. All proposals for donations of art to the City shall be reviewed by the Arts Commission for recommendation to the City Council.

C. The responsibility of the Arts Commission is to:
   1. Confer with persons who have offered to donate art to the City, informing them of the donation policy, including criteria for accepting artwork and the scope of the approval process.
   2. Advise the City Council of the artistic merit and value of paintings, sculpture, drawings and other art offered to the City as donations.
   3. Advise the City Council regarding appropriate public sites or buildings for display of such art, in conjunction with the City Commission and/or Department which has responsibility for planning or maintaining the proposed location.

PUBLIC ARTS AND CULTURAL FACILITIES FUND

A. Purpose: The City of Newport Beach recognizes the importance and desirability of a city-wide public art and cultural facilities program that includes a funding source for the acquisition and maintenance of permanent art structures and installations in public places throughout the City including support of capital construction programs and cultural facilities (collectively referred to herein as “Public Art”).

B. Intent: The City Council desires to establish a funding source for the acquisition, installation, management and maintenance of Public Art without adopting or imposing new fees or charges. The City Council therefore hereby establishes the Public Arts and Cultural Facilities Fund and by approval of this policy expresses its intent that Public Art in the City be funded by appropriations and deposits into the Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund.

C. Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund: The Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund is the identified funding source for Public Art. With the adoption of this policy, City Council establishes its intent to deposit into the Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund an amount equal to 2% of the unallocated public benefit fees received by the City after the date of adoption of this policy pursuant to Development Agreements approved by the City. The allocation of Development Agreement revenues shall be confirmed by the City Council concurrent with its approval of the City’s annual budget for the fiscal year in which public benefit fees are anticipated to be received.

To provide for a future stream of funding, the City Council also desires that a contribution to the Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund be included as a component of any public benefit fees negotiated pursuant to Chapter 15.45 of the City’s Municipal Code (Developer Agreements) and approved by City Council subsequent to the date of adoption of this policy, as the same may be amended from time to time.

In addition, all monies earmarked for deposit into the Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund including, but not limited to, monies received by the City from private individuals, corporate and foundation donations, government grants and special appropriations shall be deposited into the Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund.

D. Administration of the Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund: The Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund shall be maintained separate from all other City funds. Funds may be withdrawn from the Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund following the receipt of Development Agreement revenue and deposit into the Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund. The City Council shall review and approve all expenditures of the Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund. Prior to approving an expenditure on a work of Public Art, the City Council shall obtain a recommendation from the City’s Arts Commission and City staff as to the proposed Public Art’s consistency with this policy. In addition, from time to time, City staff and the Arts Commission may:

1. Identify and assess potential Public Art projects and locations;
2. Recommend to the City Council funding for the capital construction, expansion or enhancement of permanent arts and cultural facilities, museums, historical sites, theaters or performance spaces;
3. Confer with other Boards and Commissions that may be impacted by the recommended list of Public Art projects;
4. Make appropriate recommendations to City Council;
5. Participate in the selection of artists for Public Art;
6. Plan and oversee the artistic design process; and
7. Work with appropriate City Departments to ensure correct installation and long-term maintenance and conservation of the Public Art.

E. Other Considerations: The following criteria shall be considered prior to approval of a Public Art project or authorization of an expenditure of the Public Art and Cultural Facilities Fund:

1. The aesthetic concept, quality, scale, and form of the work of art, and its appropriateness for the site;
2. A site that is easily visible and/or accessible to the general public;
3. The experience, skill and ability of the artist to produce the work of art;
4. The proper medium for the work of art, considering durability against vandalism, theft and weather, and the safety of the viewer;
5. The cost for the City to acquire, install, insure and maintain the work of art;
6. The degree to which the facility will provide cultural enrichment, historical understanding, educational value, or facilitate performance art;
7. The value of the proposed facility in the economic, cultural or neighborhood revitalization of the City and the particular neighborhood of the proposed facility; and
8. The value of the improvement in enhancing Newport Beach as an arts and/or cultural destination.

Stakeholder and Public Survey Key Observations

Citizens value and take enormous pride in the community of Newport Beach for the coastal living, the gorgeous weather, the well-cared-for City and its proximity to desired amenities like good restaurants. Many cited the village structure of the City contributing to a small-town feel and the beautiful harbor as setting it apart from other Southern California coastal communities. The Library has emerged as the center of cultural in Newport Beach and has positioned the literary arts as a flagship program for the City.

When asked about the challenges facing the City there were several common themes. First, there is a struggle to find the balance between growth and protecting the qualities of life in Newport Beach. Arts and culture were called out as a possible solution to addressing changing demographics and uniting neighborhoods.

Equally important was the perception that the city has not really prioritized arts and culture in a substantive way and it’s time to do so. A desire that was expressed consistently was to balance more offices and living spaces with spaces for arts and culture. In addition, the desire to carve out what is unique to Newport Beach and move forward with an arts and culture agenda is seen as sign of maturity as a City.

Commentary pertaining to the option of serving more culturally diverse groups of people illustrates the sensitivity of race, ethnicity and cultural subject matter and issues within Newport Beach. Opinions included not seeing a need to conduct outreach to ethnic groups outside the dominant group, which is Caucasian, determined by the US Census at 82.3% of the population. Others urged the city to make special efforts to reach out through arts and culture to the growing Chinese and Persian communities.

Programming:

The most frequently mentioned priorities for additional arts programming were the presentation of surprising arts experiences integrated with being outdoors, including Neighborhood festivals and celebrations. Although, many respondents are in favor of a festival or signature event, it was also noted that there was reluctance of some residents to embrace large events. Referring to "Taste of Newport", respondents mentioned that although the event attracted many people to the area, and appealed to young adults, it stopped being a family-friendly event due to alcohol consumption and large crowds. On the other hand, many mentioned food and drink inclusive of wine and beer as necessary for successful events and that these are currently lacking. Many were enthusiastic about the notion of casual clubs and cafes for live jazz and spoken word, but also noted the problem with club owners being able to afford rent and obtaining permits for such places in the City.

Public art coupled with hiking trails and gardens also emerged as popular suggestions. However, there was concern of how accessible this art would be to the general public. When provided with interactive public arts projects in other cities, enthusiasm noticeably increased especially when the public art pieces could animate public parks and engage all ages.

Public Survey Data

Arts Orange County administered an arts and culture survey in order to receive feedback from a sampling of the public for the planning process. The public survey was conducted online between October 1 and October 15, 2014 and 119 individuals responded to the survey. It was promoted through the City of Newport Beach’s multiple databases and the 155 individuals who participated in the community input process.

Most participated in these hands-on creative activities:

- Literary Arts: Read books, write poetry, creative writing
- Photography: Take photos, make videos
- Culinary Arts: Prepare traditional foods, cooking classes

This data validates the importance of the literary arts and the success of the Library in offering meaningful programming. However, this also seems to indicate either a lack of interest or a lack of opportunity to take adult classes in practicing arts disciplines like music, theatre, dance, visual arts and crafts.

In a typical year, how often do you or your family take part in the following hands-on art activities either on your own or in a class?

Roadblocks to Arts and Culture Participation

Food and drink availability at events was highlighted as well in different contexts.

D. The Orange County Museum of Art (currently in Newport Beach) will be moving to Costa Mesa in a few years selling one of 2 parcels it owns near Fashion Island. Please rank in order of importance to you and your household the following cultural uses for such a facility.

A performance space is considered the best use of the vacated land as the OC Museum of Art plans to move to Costa Mesa which validates the overall need expressed by residents of such a space.

Sampling of Comments: “What else would you like to tell us?”

Governance
- We need to have a full time Arts Coordinator at the minimum to implement arts programs
- The City needs to re-hire an Arts Coordinator to allow the Library Director to do his job directing the library instead of spending such a large amount of time with the Arts Commission.

Programming
- Diverse offering of arts and culture in the city. Newport has really been doing a good job in the last year. Keep it up.
- I think we are on the right track with the plays and concerts in the parks and the sculpture exhibition in city hall park. More of all of it would be great.
- I would like to see a greater emphasis and encouragement of local artists, as well as a diversity in art
- We need more funky and cool and less navy blue and white formal. Teens could REALLY use a place to hang out
- Public art is what makes a city really special. Murals, sculptures, fountains, etc. Temporary or permanent. And don’t worry if everyone doesn’t like every piece. Lots more public art!!!
- There is very little to do culturally in NB besides the terrific Library Lectures and Film Festival. A shame. They need more support.

Arts Education
- keeping the arts in the schools of Newport Beach: the City needs to support the arts in all our local schools!
- Help the schools in NMUSD to continue and grow their art programs by providing whatever support they need in regards to locations or summer programs for the students

Facilities
- Larger facility for arts, entertainment and library speakers/author events
- We would LOVE to see a 300+ seat venue at the library/city hall complex that could accommodate the Library Foundation’s growing speaker series as well as other events
- I was very disappointed that the new City Hall did not include a bigger Theatre/Auditorium. We need a facility that can accommodate 350+ guests for lectures and music events. Run by the library or public entity but open for public use

The Planning Process
- I would like the City to do more outreach to neighborhoods adjacent to the Civic Center when plans for new art in the park are being proposed.
- there has been no opportunity for the community to share their own ideas and innovation on the Cultural arts master plan. Why is the City of Newport Beach Cultural Arts Master Plan not looking at the other arts and cultural issues within the City.

A Public Forum was held on Monday, September 29, 2014 at the Oasis Community Center

The purpose of the forum was to examine four re-occurring themes to date and then open the meeting up for public comment in advance of writing the recommendations. Eighty-nine people registered for the forum and fifty-five were in attendance.

Each table group approached their topic with the same process and reported out to the full group. Notes were posted for all attendees to review and add their comments. Below is a summary of the table group notes as well as the public comments.
SUMMARY OF GROUP TABLE TOPICS

Table Topic: PUBLIC PARKS & THE CIVIC CENTER

The City of Newport Beach enjoys over 50 parks of various sizes. There are at least six parks with parking capacity that can accommodate large crowds of people. In fact, many of these parks have played host in the past to musical concerts, Shakespeare in the Park, Movie Nights, plus more. The new Civic Center and the Parks are significant assets which can play an important role in the City's Arts and Culture Master Plan and serve their surrounding neighborhoods with creative experiences. Community input is being sought to determine programs that are of interest to explore further in strategic planning.

Top three choices:
- Live Performances (bands, open mic nights, vocalists, quartets)
- Public Art in the form of interactive playground elements
- Community arts showcases and cultural festivals

New Ideas:
- All forms of Public Art with a mobile app including one honoring Rex Brandt at end of Civic Green
- Interactive, creative playspaces for children
- Exhibition opportunities for children
- Wide variety of performing art including ones that engage youth
- High quality professional performances with proper infrastructure for them
- Arts programming specific to the outdoors: photography, garden design, reusable materials, "Do it Yourself" classes
- Free concerts on a regular schedule with picnic food or food trucks available, wine and beer
- Pop-up children’s museum that rotates between parks

Concerns:
- Not using Parks for arts and culture events is a lost opportunity
- Creating youth programs that duplicate school district programs instead of enhancing them
- Adequate infrastructure: sound, stage and lighting
- Alcohol allowed at public parks
- Noise and curfew issues with neighbors
- Attracting audiences to events in parks as well as community support
- Engage all of the City parks, not just Civic Center
- Don’t be afraid to be edgy or bold in offerings
- How to appeal to all ages and cultures
- Civic Center seen as exclusive (high end Food and Wine Festival)

Table Topic: A BOLD NEW CREATIVE SPACE

Multiple stakeholders and potential partners have identified the need for a 350-450 seat flexible-use space to be built that is affordable and focused on serving the citizens of Newport Beach. Potential users include the Library Lecture Series/Special Programs and Newport Beach Film Festival. Suggestions have included the desire for a green, architecturally interesting building that brings in the outdoors. Several potential areas in the city have been identified as possible sites.

A list of potential uses that could be combined for a “mixed use” approach are as follows:

Top choices:
- A 300 -400 seat flexible theatre space that would serve established community programs
- Interactive Public Art Garden interwoven with hiking/fitness trails
- Creative teen center that provides a safe environment for teens to produce and experience arts
- Creative meeting spaces/retreat center available for rent on a sliding scale for non-profits as well as business

New Ideas:
- Amphitheatre offering free concerts with food, wine and beer, picnicking
- Artist’s Studio spaces open to the public with gallery exhibition space, classrooms, gift shop and small recital space
- Music programs – symphony, glee clubs, talent showcases; musical theatre – youth theatre conservancy, new performance works, design; art classrooms
- Environmentally sensitive space, green
- Include the spaces as well as the arts i.e STEAM
- Are there existing spaces that can be re-purposed?

Concerns:
- Theatre space should be located at library
- Is 300-350 big enough for the need?
- Where would it be located?
- Is one type of facility going to work and serve all the needs? Lectures vs. staged
- Would teens be motivated to attend? Needs good location and collaboration with schools
- Need good planning with city on traffic, parking, noise, security and zoning
- Who decides who uses the space and who manages the facility?
- Flexibility often interferes with solid programming. Center should not be a “one size fits all”. Decide on one focus first, do that well, then add in other uses
Table Topic: BALBOA FINE ARTS CENTER

The Balboa Theater building located at 707 East Balboa Street on the Peninsula, adjacent to the Balboa Pier, is owned by the City of Newport Beach. Recent action has been taken by the City to examine converting this empty structure to a Fine Arts Center where the community can gather to embrace and celebrate the arts. The Center would be a flexible space that would provide programs such as art instruction, movie nights, live performances, art and culinary classes, special events and a rental venue for family and civic events. The building is currently undergoing a space feasibility study on how best to maximize the venue to meet varying program needs. Community input is being sought to determine programs of interest to help aid in its design.

Top 4 choices:

- Children’s Programs and classes (art, drama and music camps)
- Live Performances (bands, open mic nights, vocalists, quartets)
- Film/Movie nights (documentaries, shorts, special previews)
- Community Events, seasonal festivals and community meeting space

New Ideas:

- Public art is incorporated into the building from the beginning
- Storytelling, poetry and theatre
- Author lectures and book signings
- Lectures on the history of all arts forms. Education is first!
- Open mic for music and poetry
- Free, safe activities for young people. No alcohol
- Interesting, artistic place for teens to meet in the evening
- Wine tastings
- All the choices are good ideas
- Seasonal offerings like a Charles Dickens Faire at Christmas
- Beach Boys theme festival
- Exhibition space and flexible space
- Digital art installation – Space should be equipped with latest technology- STEAM
- Young performer open house/showcase

Concerns:

- Parking, traffic and access - provide public transit like a low cost trolley. Suggestion: Need a trolley from parking site near Newport Blvd that could also be used by summer junior lifeguard program
- Need to consider possible competition from Lido Theatre in designing plans & use
- Acoustics
- Marketing/PR plan that is effective. Not a lot of people know about it
- Duplication of other city offerings
- Transient population of area...who is the building serving as their primary target and will they come to this area
- Understand the demographics of the area
- Area is unattractive because of renters
- Events that are important enough to the community that they will want to get involved
- Who is choosing these programs and insuring quality and scheduling?
- How will different activities be scheduled, managed and supported in the same building?

Table Topic: ORANGE COUNTY OF MUSEUM OF ART - USE OF THE LAND

To better serve the needs of the community and its own growing exhibition and educational programs, the Orange County Museum of Art announced plans in 2008 to move to a site in Costa Mesa. There the museum will join the Segerstrom Center for the Arts and South Coast Repertory on an expanded cultural campus that serves upwards of 700,000 annual visitors. The museum is currently investigating uses of the two adjacent properties it owns in Newport Center. The one property (2 acres) house the museum’s galleries, the second site is used for its offices and other administrative functions (>0 acres). The museum wishes to develop the 2 acres-site into a high-end residential structure, with up to 99 units. The museum is also investigating uses for the .9 acres site. At present, the building on the site is 14,000 sq. feet. Community input is being sought as to the best cultural use of the .9-acre site and potentially a new structure on the site to replace the current one.

Top three choices

- A 300 seat flexible performance space that is architecturally exciting
- A center for the classical arts i.e. poetry, storytelling and traditional visual arts
- A satellite branch of the Orange County Museum of Art highlighting regional heritage since WWII
- An affordable creative meeting space that could be used for lectures and community conversations

New Ideas:

- Creative writing center for all ages
- Open, integrated center for a combination of art forms
- Center for history of the arts
- Arts Education Center that allows for gaining cumulative knowledge and learning about the arts beginning with visual art forms
- A place for musical concerts in the evenings
- A venue for nightly jazz and live music – consider a for profit night club

Concerns:

- Finding a good director/management team for the space
- All should feel welcome – be careful not to segregate the facility. We want a cross-section of the population to utilize the center

Additional Comments:

- Partnerships: Photography in area restaurants
- Make sure offerings are distributed all over city
- Investigate edgy, unique offerings
- Need an arts coordinator to manage a well-organized approach and program
- Make sure opinions of residents/general public are solicited and honored
- Map and identify existing public art with mobile apps
- Expedite arts vision with developer fees
- Arts Plan needs to be on-going and not diverted or influenced by political agenda or change
- Do not duplicate surrounding areas (Laguna Beach), but develop something unique that could have national appeal
PUBLIC COMMENTS

INFRASTRUCTURE
- Arts coordinator position needs to be restored

FACILITIES
- Library needs bigger room to accommodate large lectures/speakers
- Consider facility use crossover, like at high schools
- Newport Beach should have a world-class performing arts center—why limit it to 300 seats?
- 300-seat performing arts space is needed

PUBLIC ART
- Sculpture exhibition at Civic Center should have a theme like the ocean, fossils, etc
- Commemorative sculpture at the Civic Center for Rex Brandt
- Put sculpture in every park
- Look into additional public art locations across the city
- Develop a percent for art program

TRAFFIC/TRANSPORTATION
- Balboa Peninsula is already too crowded—what kind of traffic will new Fine Arts Center bring? Is there a way to move people without going down the Peninsula?

COMMUNICATION TO PUBLIC
- More public input is needed to evaluate interests
- Residents want to be part of the process or at least notified of what’s going on
- There is need for collective coordination of publicity for arts & culture events in Newport Beach...banners, websites, etc.

EVENTS
- Open mic, coffeehouse-feel for teenagers
- Science brings culture & shouldn’t be ignored in arts & culture master plan

GENERAL
- Expand arts scene in Newport Beach
- Do something unique to Newport Beach, don’t duplicate other cities
- Want a city-run community orchestra
- Consulting group for Arts + Culture Master Plan should not be involved in the suggestions of the plan

847 Arts-Related Businesses Employ 2,793 People

City of Newport Beach is home to 847 arts-related businesses that employ 2,793 people. The map above plots the creative industries, with each star representing a unique arts-related business.

Nationally, 750,453 businesses are involved in the creation or distribution of the arts, and they employ 3.1 million people. This represents 4.2 percent of all U.S. businesses and 2.1 percent of all U.S. employees. The source for these data is Dun & Bradstreet, the most comprehensive and trusted source for business information in the United States. Between 2012 and 2014, Dun & Bradstreet conducted a large-scale, post-recession database cleaning. Despite a reduction in the overall numbers of all U.S. businesses (arts and otherwise), the arts share of businesses and employment remained stable as a percentage of the national totals—demonstrating that the Creative Industries are as resilient and durable as other sectors of the economy. These data are current as of January 2014.

Research Notes
- The Creative Industries data are based solely on active U.S. businesses that have registered with Dun & Bradstreet (D&B). Because not all businesses register, our analyses indicate an under-representation of nonprofit arts organizations and individual artists in the data. The data in this report, therefore, should be considered conservative.
- Like many major data providers, including the federal government, D&B periodically reviews its database for accuracy by removing inactive businesses and adding new active ones. After a large-scale, post-recession database cleaning, D&B reduced the total number of active U.S. business records in its database to approximately 18.0 million in January 2014, down from 21.3 million in January 2012 (-15.8 percent). As such, year-to-year changes through 2014 may not represent a trend increase or decline, but rather stem from a more accurate tally of the active business population. These 2014 data are the most current and accurate data available and represent a new baseline for the Creative Industries data.

Arts Commission Art Site Suitability
Ad Hoc Committee Report

May 2014
Newport Beach Arts Commission
Art Site Suitability Ad Hoc Committee Report
May 9, 2014

Committee Members:
Commissioner Michaell Magrutsche, Chairman
Commissioner Caroline Logan
Commissioner Charles Ware

Report for:
Newport Beach Library Director, Tim Hetherton,
ArtsOC and The Newport Beach Arts Commission Master Plan Ad Hoc Committee

Committee Purpose: To evaluate the City’s public places for appropriateness to host public art, within the context of an overall master plan and vision.

Team Members: Newport Beach Library Director, Tim Hetherton, Mr. Fong Tse of the Newport Beach Department of Public Works and Ms. Janet Cates of the Newport Beach Parks, Beaches & Recreation Department.

The Ad Hoc Committee was pleased to see the interest from all three departments in supporting and collaborating on the site suitability evaluation. The team is currently pursuing a planning intern from CSULB and an art intern from UCI to help with the inventory analyses and database. Ms. Cates will serve as the point person and help facilitate use of the City's Parks, Beaches & Recreation Department database to establish art friendly sites. We believe the project should eventually transition and/or partner with a consultant service to best integrate our work with an overall vision of the City Arts Master Plan.

Suitability Art Placement Requirements: We discovered that there are a number of public locations that have the required public traffic and visibility and a safe infrastructure to present art in a meaningful and enjoyable way. We want to avoid having art forced into place. In addition to the Newport Beach Public Library Service, we have tentatively identified about 10 significant locations in our meetings. The biggest challenge, we anticipate, will be to add art to public spaces originally built without art and then joining the past and the future of the sites with a perfect blend of complimentary aesthetics. This, we feel we can do.

Pilot Project: The Team is conducting pilot evaluations of sites to test our defined suitability criteria and determine the workload for the team to collect and input the data to facilitate future art swaps and new exposure. We have already commitments for various test sites from the Library Services.

Inventory: The City’s current art inventory was recently appraised by an independent art appraiser who determined that, in many cases, the stored art was of limited value, instead of art that invigorated thought provoking and aesthetic experiences, the kind of art that a mature city would rightfully have for its art collection. We look forward to this changing.

Partnering with the City Master Plan and the Future: The Site Suitability Ad Hoc Committee will be integrating its research with the City Arts Master Plan. In addition, the Committee will work with the City Arts Master Plan on future public locations to include public art and be a guide to expose art in an appropriate and outstanding way.
